

PREVENTING DIABETES HAS NEVER BEEN EASIER.

Welcome to Solera

Solera Health is a new model in chronic disease prevention. Solera connects patients and payers with community organizations and digital providers to deliver ACA-covered health benefits, including the National Diabetes Prevention Program (DPP). The result is easier access than ever for plan members to the DPP, at no out-of-pocket cost.

Solera's model is unique in that it both lowers costs and improves care.

A CENTRALIZED MARKETPLACE

Solera connects patients and payers with community organizations and digital providers to deliver ACA-covered health benefits, including the National Diabetes Prevention Program (DPP). The result is easier access than ever for plan members to the DPP, at no out-of-pocket cost.

BEST-IN-CLASS NETWORK

Solera has created a network of dozens of CDC-recognized DPP providers that represent a wide range of formats, from national to community-based organizations, from in-person to digital. Solera tracks and monitors outcomes closely, ensuring that all DPP providers are meeting Solera's high standards for inclusion.

PREFERENCE-DRIVEN ENGAGEMENT

The strength of Solera's network also serves as the backbone for impressive member engagement. Members use Solera's preference-based matching system to choose their best fit from an array of DPP options.

AGGREGATED DATA AND REPORTING

Solera's technology is integral to program monitoring, reporting and reimbursement. Solera and its DPP providers use the platform to manage metrics around weight loss, attendance and minutes of physical activity. Data is used to monitor the DPP provider network and provide reporting at the health plan, employer or physician level.

Solera provides an easy, effective and secure way to meet U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) requirements for diabetes and cardiovascular risk reduction.
