

Rewards for Safety™

Programs designed for results. Incentives designed to motivate.

We deliver results

gBehavior structures safety programs for measurable success. And provides millions of incentive choices to focus employees on your business goals. Our clients in a variety of industries are benefiting from reduced injuries, enhanced performance, safety adherence and improved productivity. Actual client successes include outcomes like reducing OSHA recordable manufacturing accident frequency by 40 – 60%, and reducing preventable transportation accidents by 40%.

Our safety programs provide:

- A branded online portal - rewards cards, merchandise, travel options, event tickets.
- gTrack - tracking and reporting platform that generates participant points statements, as well as comprehensive standard and customized management reports for measuring results.
- All program administration - development and management of the program, incentive fulfillment, program engagement and customer support.

We measure success

When employees achieve program metrics, they are rewarded with points that are redeemable for their choice of exciting products and services. Our experience proves that incentives promote long term employee commitment to safety objectives. And, because we know that incentives bring results, we offer this guarantee—we are paid ONLY when employees meet your program goals.
